National Timetable Collection

A Project of the Australian Timetable Association

Supported by the Prahran Mechanics Institute

In 2011, the Australian Timetable Association signed an agreement with the State Library of Victoria to establish a National Timetable Collection, so that there would be a permanent record of all transport timetables (as far as is possible) issued in Australia.

Since then, timetables have been put aside and stored for inclusion in this Collection. The timetables have come from various sources, including collections that have been donated to ATA, surplus timetables from the Distribution Lists and Auctions, and timetables from the grab boxes at ATA meetings.

The storage of these timetables is now being consolidated at the Prahran Mechanics Institute (PMI) in Melbourne where there is ample room and very good facilities for members to work on the Collection.

Already over 2400 timetables have been assigned to the National Timetable Collection.

Working sessions are now being held at regular intervals at PMI when members can work on the task of preparing the timetables for the Collection to be deposited in the State Library of Victoria.

- Sort. The boxes of timetables have to be sorted into State, Transport Mode, Location and Operator. This stage is underway.
- Cull. Duplicate copies of the same timetable then have to be removed, and the single copies for the Collection are sorted into date order, re-boxed and labelled.
- Index. The timetables for the Collection are then indexed in an Excel spreadsheet in a format determined by State Library of Victoria (SLV). ATA will have a dedicated computer at PMI for this indexing work. It requires some basic knowledge of Excel and the ability to conform to reasonably strict formats. Training can be provided.
- Deposit. The timetables are then packed in special boxes supplied by SLV and its labels are placed on the boxes. The list of deposited timetables is then added to the Collection master file which is available free to ATA members.

These photos show the current work in progress at PMI: the Collection in boxes that are all labelled with the contents and what stage they are up to: Sort, Cull or Index, and the sorting tables in the work area.

Details of the Working Sessions at PMI are sent by email to interested members. If you would like to be included in these emails, please contact Len Regan at archives@austta.org.au or by phone 0409 209 114.

If you are thinking about downsizing your timetable collection, please also think about donating it to the National Timetable Collection where it will be retained permanently and made available for research at the State Library of Victoria. Bequeathing your timetable collection in your will to the Australian Timetable Association ensures that it will also be included in the National Timetable Collection.
